

Welcome to the community of the Catholic Parish of St John 23rd Glenwood-Stanhope Gardens where the love of Christ is shining in so many ways.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF COUNTRY

In the spirit of reconciliation, we acknowledge the traditional custodians of the lands in which the Catholic Parish of St John XXIII and the Diocese of Parramatta sits, the land of the Darug and Gundungurra people. We would like to pay our respects to the Aboriginal Elders past, present and future for they hold the traditions, memories and wisdom of Mother Earth on which we place our feet upon today.

Gospel Reflection

The universalist vision of the gospel noted in the reflections for the previous two Sundays, covering Luke 9:51–10:20, comes to the fore only a few verses later. No-one mentions Samaritans as often as Luke. Mark never mentions Samaria or the Samaritans. Matthew mentions them to prohibit the Twelve going to them as they are sent before Jesus. John has a major scene with a Samaritan woman, and another reference. In today's gospel a Samaritan is famously put forward as a hypothetical exemplar of being neighbourly. The question put to Jesus by the lawyer, "What must I do to inherit eternal life?", at first seems disconnected from anything that had preceded it, but it instigates this exploration of a point that is of critical importance to the gentile Luke: the gospel is for all people. This universalist theme emerges only when the lawyer is coaxed to answer his own question from the source of his life's work, Torah, the Law. He replies with the twofold summation of the Law: love God with your whole self (Deuteronomy 6:5), and love your neighbour as yourself (Leviticus 19:18, 34).

It is misguided to say that this twofold summary was original to Jesus. Luke reports the lawyer himself, not Jesus, as giving this summary, and so the gospel itself stands as witness to this summary forming part of then contemporary Jewish thought; it was a commonly held point of view, well evidenced in later rabbinic documents too. The claim that our Lord invented it should be abandoned. What may still have been at issue with some at the time was what "neighbour" really means. If Leviticus 19:18 is read as an isolated rule then it applies only to compatriots, Jews, and not to others. But a few verses later we have another rule directing that the resident or visiting foreigner (an alien of any kind) is to be treated as a native (a citizen). The like of Exodus 12:43-49, using different terminology, further complicates a simple understanding of who each is, especially when it concludes that, at least concerning the original Passover, there is to be one law for both the "native" and the "foreigner"—but since the Hebrews, who in the story were born in Egypt, later call themselves the sojourners or aliens in the story we find that the Law applies the terms like "native" and "alien" ambiguously to both Jews and gentiles. We may well argue that the Exodus formulation reflects the later legal setting, but within the story itself, that is, in Scripture, the usual or common-sense applications are upended. Thus in discussions over the Law we find that both the Jew and the gentile are not so easily distinguishable and a neighbour may be either.

Luke's account has the lawyer focus on that question about who may be called "my neighbour". It is unfortunate then that the way Luke tells it inadvertently lent support to later anti-Jewish sentiment, for it allowed it to be seen as evidence of obstinate Jewish contrariness. This was further exacerbated by the invented rationales offered by preachers and teachers as to why a priest and a Levite might not want to become involved with the stricken man; the story does not present any idea of a defence based on purity laws. After all, as a parable it is work of fiction composed to explore an idea by presenting a hypothetical case. But in a perverse way the later name given this parable, "The Good Samaritan", further plays into this, for it can be seen to suggest that Samaritans, indistinguishable from Jews to later Christians, are likewise not normally "good"; that this fictitious Samaritan can be so called underlies the sense that generally they are not, or at least were seen as not by Jews. A more accurate title would be "The Good Neighbour".

Ultimately the question is not "Who is my neighbour?", which is passive, but "How am I to be a neighbour?", which is about action. The Christian teachings are clear: since we are all children of God, each is to be neighbour to all.

Our Parish Mission

The Parish of St John XXIII is a faith community with the Eucharist as its heart. Inspired by John XXIII's prophetic opening of the windows of the Church, we welcome the fresh air of the Holy Spirit, inviting every person to share in the responsibility of enriching the life and faith of our community by sharing their gifts and talents."

Celebrating the life and priestly ministry of

Fr Tim Hogan

16 May 1944 - 6 July 2025

FUNERAL MASS

Monday 14 July at 10.30am
St Anthony of Padua Church,
27-33 Aurelia St, Toongabbie

BURIAL

Castle Hill Cemetery,
10 Gilbert Road, Castle Hill

Eternal rest grant unto him, O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon him.

Entrance Antiphon

As for me, in justice I shall behold your face; I shall be filled with the vision of your glory.

First Reading

Deuteronomy 30:10-14

Let the instruction of the Lord God be near you.

Moses said to the people: 'Obey the voice of the Lord your God, keeping those commandments and laws of his that are written in the Book of this Law, and you shall return to the Lord your God with all your heart and soul.

'For this Law that I enjoin on you today is not beyond your strength or beyond your reach. It is not in heaven, so that you need to wonder, "Who will go up to heaven for us and bring it down to us, so that we may hear it and keep it?" Nor is it beyond the seas, so that you need to wonder, "Who will cross the seas for us and bring it back to us, so that we may hear it and keep it?" No, the Word is very near to you, it is in your mouth and in your heart for your observance.'

The word of the Lord.

Thanks be to God

Responsorial Psalm

Ps 18:8-11

R. The precepts of the Lord give joy to the heart.

The law of the Lord is perfect, it revives the soul. The rule of the Lord is to be trusted, it gives wisdom to the simple. R.

The precepts of the Lord are right, they gladden the heart. The command of the Lord is clear, it gives light to the eyes. R.

The fear of the Lord is holy, abiding for ever. The decrees of the Lord are truth and all of them just. R.

They are more to be desired than gold, than the purest of gold and sweeter are they than honey, than honey from the comb. R.

Second Reading

Colossians 1:15-20

All things were created through him and for him.

Christ Jesus is the image of the unseen God and the first-born of all creation, for in him were created all things in heaven and on earth: everything visible and everything invisible, Thrones, Dominations, Sovereignities, Powers - all things were created through him and for him. Before anything was created, he existed, and he holds all things in unity. Now the Church is his body, he is its head. As he is the Beginning, he was first to be born from the dead, so that he should be first in every way; because God wanted all perfection to be found in him and all things to be reconciled through him and for him, everything in heaven and everything on earth, when he made peace by his death on the cross.

The word of the Lord.

Thanks be to God

Gospel Acclamation

Colossians 3:15, 16

Alleluia, alleluia!

Your words, Lord, are spirit and life; you have the words of everlasting life. Alleluia!

Gospel

Luke 10:25-37

Who is my neighbour?

There was a lawyer who, to disconcert Jesus, stood up and said to him, 'Master, what must I do to inherit eternal life?' He said to him, 'What is written in the Law? What do you read there?' He replied, 'You must love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your strength, and with all your mind, and your neighbour as yourself.' 'You have answered right,' said Jesus. 'Do this and life is yours.'

But the man was anxious to justify himself and said to Jesus, 'And who is my neighbour?' Jesus replied, 'A man was once on his way down from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell into the hands of brigands; they took all he had, beat him and then made off, leaving him half dead. Now a priest happened to be travelling down the same road, but when he saw the man, he passed by on the other side. In the same way a Levite who came to the place saw him, and passed by on the other side. But a Samaritan traveller who came upon him was moved with compassion when he saw him. He went up and bandaged his wounds, pouring oil and wine on them. He then lifted him on to his own mount, carried him to the inn and looked after him. Next day, he took out two denarii and handed them to the innkeeper. "Look after him," he said "and on my way back I will make good any extra expense you have." Which of these three, do you think, proved himself a neighbour to the man who fell into the brigands' hands?' 'The one who took pity on him' he replied. Jesus said to him, 'Go, and do the same yourself.'

The Gospel of the Lord

Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ

Communion Antiphon

The sparrow finds a home, and the swallow a nest for her young: by your altars, O Lord of hosts, my King and my God. Blessed are they who dwell in your house, for ever singing your praise.

OUR LADY OF PERPETUAL HELP

O Mother of Perpetual Help, grant that I may ever invoke thy most powerful name, which is the safeguard of the living and the salvation of the dying. O Purest Mary, O Sweetest Mary, let thy name henceforth be ever on my lips. Delay not, O Blessed Lady, to help me whenever I call on thee, for, in all my needs, in all my temptations I shall never cease to call on thee, ever repeating thy sacred name, Mary, Mary.

O what consolation, what sweetness, what confidence, what emotion fill my soul when I pronounce thy sacred name, or even only think of thee. I thank God for having given thee, for my good, so sweet, so powerful, so lovely a name. But I will not be content with merely pronouncing thy name: let my love for thee prompt me ever to hail thee, Mother of Perpetual Help. (Then say three Hail Marys).
